Apply it to All of Fall!

Kylie Mauricci, 10, fights to keep the ball for Northern's girls' soccer team.

The varsity football team lines up and prepares to make a great tackle against Smithsburg.

Talan Garner, 12, and Madison Sines, 11, act out their roles in the fall play Over the River and Through the Woods as an elderly husband and wife.

Freshman War of the Classes competitor Edward Watson tries to keep four balloons up in the air with one hand.

Working hard in their Calculus class, Jocelyn Williams, 12, and Daniel Sisler, 12, put their minds together and get their assignment done.

Bailey Tiemersma, 10, extinguishes danger in EMS Club.

Senior girls dress up for homecoming twin day by wearing their footie pajamas.

Teammates help while Zachary Meyers, 12, makes the most of his strength in the Tug-of-War.

Allison Riesco, 9, works intently on her project in P.O.E.

Brianna Opel, 10, cheers on her team while trying to get the crowd pumped for a touchdown.

Tori Devine, 11, angles just right to bump the ball up to be played on the Northern side of the volleyball court.

Kaitlyn Yommer, 11, Kayla Porter, 11, and Kloey Werner, 10, compete in Korn Hole at the bonfire.

Tiffany Glover, 10, Lorren Snodgrass, 10, and Rachel Sisler, 10, catch up and enjoy each other's company in Board Games Club.

Courtney Burdock, 11, escorts Jordan Evans, 11, out for homecoming court in a gracious way.

Lettermen boys show off their fine and classy clothes for initiation into the club.

At their Unified Tennis match, Aerra Wright, 10, watches her teammate Bethany House, 9, serve the ball to the opponents.

Are sports harder to do at the beginning of a new school year than later in the year?

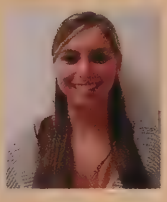
"Yes, the cold weather that comes in the late fall can always be a factor."
-David Hall, 11

"Yes and no. In a way they are, because you're still getting everything situated. They aren't because it just feels like any other sport."
-Shannon Warnick, 9

"Yes, because at the beginning of the season it is harder to get into top shape with all the school work."
-Sean Kamp, 12

"Yes, because it's harder to balance your school work and sports, considering teachers give out harder homework in the beginning of the year."
-Brooke Fink, 10

"No, because you don't have to deal with all the homework and tests that will be on your shoulders in the spring."
-Seth Bagley, 9



"Yes, because you have to get back into the school routine and try to play sports along with it."
-Kiersten Butler, 12

Zachary Meyers, 12, and Jasmine Francillon, 10, rock out at homecoming.

Enjoying their project in Contemporary Problems Brandon Williams, 12, and Adam Opel, 12, work together.

The EMS Club gets help from our local fire department in learning how to hose down any hazards they may face in the future.

Bradley Hoyman, 10, uses a spaghetti noodle in his War of the Classes challenge.

Forrest Pepe, 12, concentrates on accurately completing his math assignment.

-Mr. Lewis

"The largest project I worked on would be the Electric Car for school. We had to practically rewire the whole car and add the new wiring to make it electric."
-Mr. Kirchner

"[The hardest drawing I had to design was] a detailed piece of furniture and draw a set of working drawings for it and draw the final copy in ink."
-Mr. Stough

"[Drafting class will help me because] my future plan is to become an architect."
-Nina Harris, 10

"[The knowledge I gain in Financial Management class will help me in the future] with my bills and how to pay them correctly."
-Abby Schlossnagle, 10

"[My favorite part about Electronics class is] tearing apart computers."

Working Hard to Get the Job Done

By Christa Bowser and Marrisa Adams

During Auto Mechanics Ryan Palmer, 11, takes time to wash and tune up his truck.

Blake Deal, 10, carefully measures the parts for his bird house project in Carpentry class.

During machines and different tools is one of the main parts of Carpentry class. John Blank, 10, concentrates on sanding down a piece of wood before working with it.

Mr. Moranduzzo helps his student Joel Lewis, 11, while working under one of the many cars in the Auto garage.

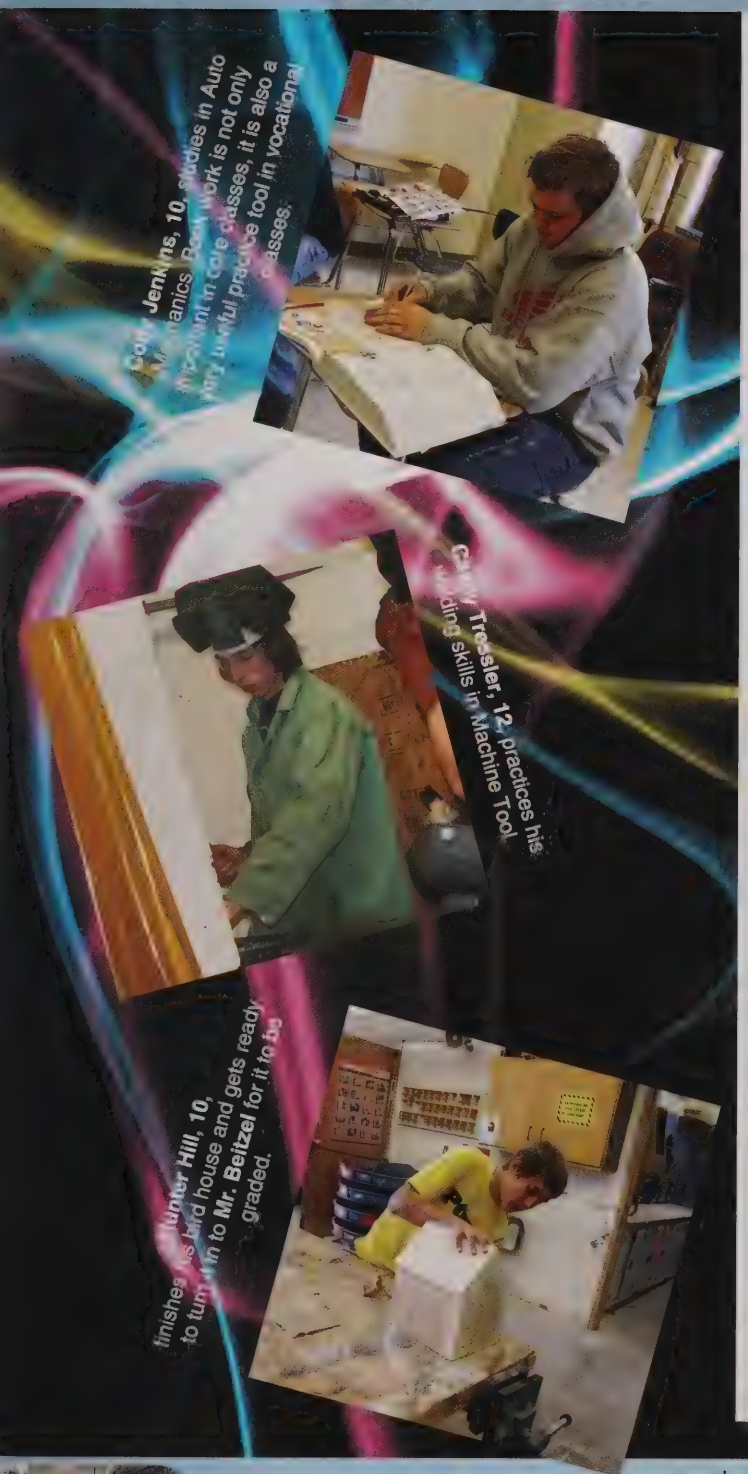
Joshua Tichinel, 12, dresses properly in order to weld in Machine Tool. Eye protection is an especially important safety precaution in the shop.

Carl Durst, 10, puts the finishing touches on his birdhouse in Carpentry. Everyone worked really hard on this challenging project.

Patrick Bowman, 12, and Benjamin Terry, 11, use teamwork to fix the car in Auto Mechanics.



Tony Jenkins, 10, studies in Auto Mechanics. Body work is not only important in core classes, it is also a very useful practice tool in vocational classes.

Cassie Troesler, 12, practices his welding skills in Machine Tool.

Hunter Hill, 10, finishes his bird house and gets ready to turn it in to Mr. Beitzel for it to be graded.

Mr. Sisler is an integral member of the NHS teaching team. His primary teaching duties include all three levels of Machine Tool.

As the carpentry teacher, Mr. Beitzel is responsible for teaching all three levels of the Carpentry classes.

"[I teach Auto] because I love working on cars and sharing my knowledge with the students."
-Mr. Moranduzzo

"The most challenging thing about Auto is remembering all the different parts to the different systems."
-Alexander Durst, 10

"The most interesting thing about Machine Tool is the hands-on activities like all the projects."
-James Redmond, 10

"My favorite project was building the picnic tables, you work with other people in the class and use almost all the concepts we learn."
-Trent Thomas, 10

Jeffrey Bittinger, 10, observes as Ryan Glotfelty, 10, demonstrates how to properly use the drill.

In order to make sure that he has the proper length board to complete his project, Devin Walden, 10, measures twice and cuts once.

Get Your Fine ;) Arts Here

Garrett Yoder, 11, Kimberly Hawkins, 11, and Kristina Beiler, 10, practice the piano. The use of headphones helps to not only enable them to hear the notes that they are playing, but also allows them to ignore the distraction of other students practicing instruments.

Jared Wiley, 9, and Lauren Ceslik, 9, work diligently to take notes from the HD video being shown on the theory of music.

"I like both comedies and tragedies, depending on the crowd [the play] is being performed for."
-Mrs. Virts

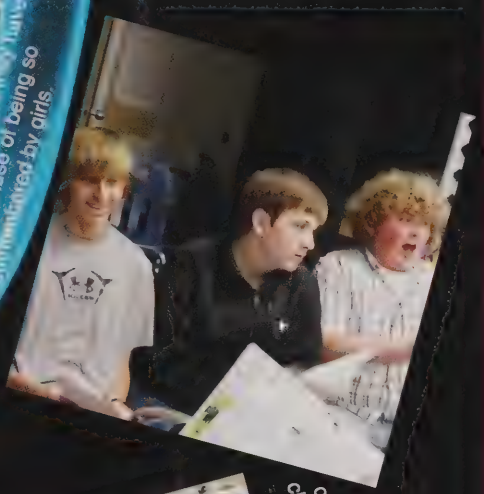
"My art degree is in sculpture, but I have many favorite art mediums. Recently I have been working more in oil paints and pottery so that I can better help advanced art students with their work."
-Mr. Paxton

"Chorus and Piano offer my students an outlet, something different during their school day, and I enjoy seeing my students grow in their musical ability".
-Mrs. Beachy

"There have been a great many awards earned, but our pride is more in how our students have improved...music can help make better people, and I believe we are accomplishing just that."
-Mr. Salisbury

"The genres and styles of music I like to sing the most are popular music and spirituals because they are more enjoyable for myself."
-Katelynn Hanek, 12

"I would have to say my favorite art skill is painting. It's relaxing because you can take your feelings out with the paint."
-Tabitha Beasom, 12



Tyler Bittinger, 11, Cameron Newman, 10, and Brandon Glotfelty, 10, talk about the hard work [illegible] because of being so outnumbered by girls.

Seniors Jack Chilcoat and Connor Lloyd talk about the challenges of portraying different characters and varied personalities in theater class.

Emily Meyers, 10, Megan Sines, 12, Sierra Livengood, 9, and Abby Andres, 12, focus intently as they tickle the ivories of the keyboards.

In hopes of taking the prize and winning the trophy at states, Amanda Monahan, 11, works hard on her recycled sculpture.

EMS

Brittany Carr, 10, and Russell Christner, 10, display their fire-fighting skills in EMS Club by participating in putting out the fire in the dug-out.

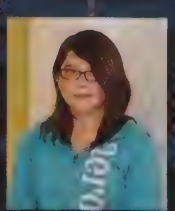
WHAT?

Day

"[The most memorable experience in EMS Club] would be when we practiced putting out fire and I almost burned down the bleaus."

"[I will be in FFA again next year] because of the activities, the people that are in it and the fun things we do."

"[My favorite EMS activity was] when I was in the firefighting uniform with the blackout mask and crawling around the course; it gave me the experience of being in an actual fire rescue."

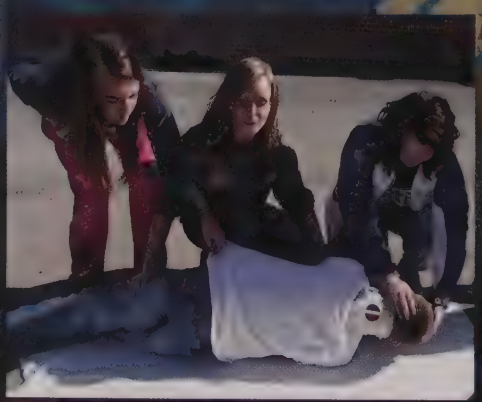


"The Great American Smoke Out [was my favorite awareness topic for SADD] because we do so many activities to help people know the dangers of smoking."

FFA

In SADD the students go over participation requirements for the activities that SADD will be holding. They also learn techniques to approach the public when presenting safety tips.

Paying attention is important in FFA. Kelsey Vansickle, 10, and Misty Paugh, 10, listen to the instructor's explanation about the main purpose of FFA and what is expected.

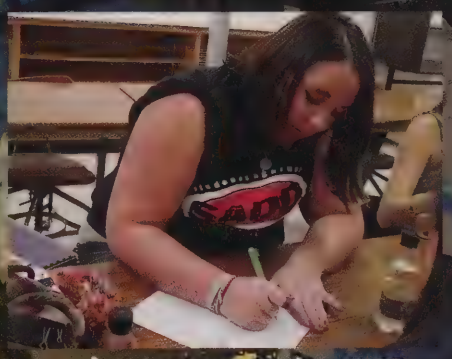


Lindsey Shields, 9, Katrina Darby, 9, and Stephanie Owens, 10, help support Logan Marsh, 9, as he plays the role of a hurt patient.

Showing their enthusiasm for EMS, Chelsea Kirkham, 11, and Catherine Dignan, 12, give a thumbs up while rigged-out in their firefighting suits during an EMS field day.

SADD

Aundrea Deigert, 12, and Kristan Broadwater, 12, follow directions carefully because it is important for them to be sure of what they need to do in difficult situations during EMS activities.



Demonstrating the planning that SADD activities require, Bailey Tiemersma, 10, writes out plans for the upcoming awareness events.

Joking around in FFA, Wesley McKenzie, 9, Samuel Martz, 9, Brandon Folk, 9, and Richard Hetz, 12, learn the rules and responsibilities of being FFA members.

WHAT? Say

"I enjoy SADD because[it's a time to be yourself and there are fun ways to show people the consequences of drugs."

"I chose FFA because I heard from past FFA members that it was a fun club to be in."

"[FFA is valuable because it] has helped me see different places and meet other people."

"[The best part of being in SADD is] you can care for people who don't do drugs and people who do drugs, you can inform them why not to do drugs."

Bradley Hoyman, 10, enjoys the challenge of figuring out a difficult problem in Numb3rs Club.

Green Club

In the Green Club Erin Rogers, 10, reads carefully over her written work.

Holly Billmeyer, 10, and classmate Erin Frazee, 10, try out new equipment from the Green Club.

Envirothon member Christa Bowser, 10, participates in an activity with measuring.

Green Club member Shelby Simmons, 10, researches environmentally friendly equipment for the weight room.

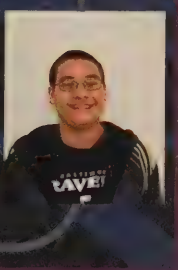
WHAT? Say

"My favorite topic in Environmental is wildlife because I like animals and always have."

"I joined Envirothon because I have an interest in wildlife and different types of animals."

"I like to watch Numb3rs and try to figure out how they use math for the crime scene."

"I find learning how to ID trees, animals, and fish in Garrett County and throughout the state of Maryland interesting."



Jordan Seaman, 12, Sydney McFarland, 12, Lauren Yeager, 12, Tori Devine, 11, Rachel Frazee, 12, Taylor Sines, 12, Kloey Werner, 10, and Kiersten Butler, 12, all smile from the sugar rush brought on by the candy theme.

Everybody throws their hands in the air to get the party going at the homecoming dance.

Justin Durst, 12, and Alason Brant, 11 decide to get off of the crowded dance floor and sit down to relax and look at all the decorations.

Homecoming King Kyle Rosenberger, 12, and Queen Haley Margroff, 12, make their grand entrance for everyone to see.

Party Time

The strobe lights always make things even more fun. At the dance, they add energy to the already enthusiastic dancers.

Time TO REMEMBER...

Kaitlin Engle, 10, Haley Moon, 10, Blake Meyers, 9

"[The homecoming dance was better than dances at the middle school because] there is yummy food, better music, more space to dance, and it is more formal." -Blake Meyers

Cameron Friend, 11, Sara Paul, 10

"[The best thing about homecoming this year was] I got to go with my two favorite people, my boyfriend Cameron and my best friend Samantha." -Sara Paul

Christopher Murdock, 12, Christa Bowser, 10

"[My favorite things about homecoming are] being able to dress up, spend time with my friends, and listen to good music." -Christa Bowser

Annika England, 12, Alex Baker, 12

"[What made this dance so much fun was] dancing with my crazy boyfriend Alex." -Annika England

Rikki Loar, 12

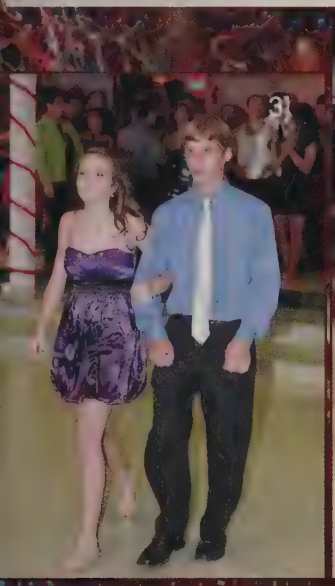
"[This homecoming dance was special because] it was my senior homecoming and it was on Halloween!" -Rikki Loar

Making it Sweet
The cheerleaders and their coaches have some fun after all the decorating. They made the cafeteria look like a real sweet place.

APP(LYING) OURSELVES TO THE LAND OF SWEETS

By Tia Winters

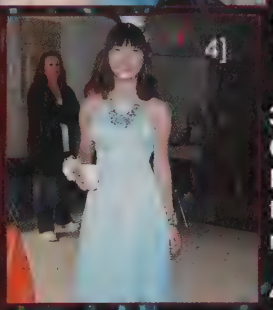
Following a great win against Berkeley Springs, students from all grades were ready to relax and let loose. After getting pumped up all week, they enjoyed partying together at the homecoming dance.



1] One on Each Arm
Kayla McKenzie, 10, is escorted down the steps by her two princes, Ryan VanNosdeln, 10, and Kody Osselburn, 10.

2] Check it Out
Trenton Friend, 10, and Martin Kallin, 11 scope out the dance floor to see who has the best moves.

3] Future Royalty
Corey Durst, 9, and Brianna Buckel, 9, make the most of their first homecoming court nomination.



4] Smile Sweetly
Amelia Li, 10, smiles before sipping some more of her drink.

5] Strike a Pose
Cari Zbel, 11, and Sarah Myers, 11, get ready to hit the dance floor with their friends.

6] Sweet Simplicity
Zakary Lee, 11, walks his princess Allison Yommer, 11, down to join the rest of the court.

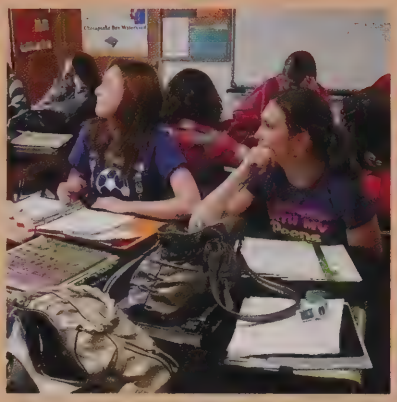
Don't Freeze Up!

Using all of his strength, Cody Platter, 10, pushes to keep the other wrestler down so he can win the match.

Sydni Frazier, 12, holds his offensive ground against a BW defender during a basketball game on the opponent's court.

Jessica Klotz, 11, and Christine Carpenter, 11, take some important notes in their Environmental Science class so they can pass their test.



For their finals, Theatre classes performed their own versions of Romeo and Juliet with a mix of this year's top reality TV shows. Michelle Moll, 11, talks to the camera about the tragic situation.

Cara Bauermaster, 11, Meghan Bequette, 10, and Brady Benton, 10, focus on their next play at the bocce tournament.

David Hall, 11, regularly skis at the Wisp during winter. Being in Ski and Snowboard Club gives him the opportunity to expand his experience of the winter sports he enjoys.

The cheer team performs a stunt to pump up the crowd at the boys' basketball game.

Hanging at lunch, buddies Cheyenne Hackett, 9, and Haley Guillot, 9, share funny stories with each other.

Seniors celebrate their last dance held at the high school. They take one last picture at Snowball and continue on towards spring, and their last term as seniors.

Justin Opel, 9, prepares to take down the other wrestler during a match at Northern.

Joining forces to achieve perfection, Brett Wilt, 11, and Ryan Palmer, 11, get their carpentry project done.

Alex Baker, 12, takes his foul shot, hoping to raise the Lettermen's points against the teachers.

For the chorus performance, Sydney Holtschneider, 11, and Jordan Brick, 12, sing "Cowboy Take Me Away."

Cari Zbel, 11, Alyssa Savage, 11, and Sarah Myers, 11, listen closely to Andrew Maltba, 11, as he tells them interesting stories.

Coloring her art work helps Machaela Barkman, 10, to relax during the school day.

Jordyn Folk, 10, dribbles to the basket to make a lay-up and score two points for the Huskies.

The cheerleaders take a moment to pose at their competition in Atlantic City after winning third place in pyramid and team stunts, and fourth overall!

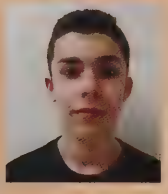
What is your favorite activity to do over winter? Why?

"Playing basketball [is] really the only thing I do in the winter time."
-Jonah Schneider, 9

"Sledding is my favorite [activity], because it is fun and I usually do it to spend time with family or friends."
-Erin Rogers, 10

"In the winter I stand at my window and wonder why I ever moved here."
-Kieran Broadwater, 12

"[I] sit in my room and cry until spring, because winter is unpleasant and I hate it."
-Katelynn Hanek, 12



"My favorite [activity] is to have snowball fights, because it gives me a chance to employ my cunning and strategy."
-Kai Senese, 11

"[My favorite activity is] basketball, because it's awesome!!"
-Savanna House, 9

Kirsten Rayner, 11, relaxes during clubs by playing a game of cards.

The winners for the ugly sweater contest are Bradley Hoyman, 10, Joseph Burdock, 10, and Jenna Duckworth, 11.

Heather Vincent, 12, pulls away from her opponent to look for a good pass, hoping that her teammates will come in for the save.

Tearing it up at Wisp, Charles Hanek, 11, enjoyed the snow while it lasted on the slopes this year.

After running down the court John Blank, 10, goes for the basket to score two points.

Getting Unified on the Court

By Samantha Schoenian

COACH DEWITT

"[My best memory of bocce is] the state tournament! They did a fantastic job of coming back and advancing all the way to the gold medal game, [earning] them their medals. Listening to the positive comments the students made and support for other teams' athletes. They matured a lot over the course of the season."

Seth Bagley, 9

Seth shows off his tennis skills on a chilly fall day.

Lauren Yeager, 12, and Meghan Bequette, 10

Meghan gets ready to throw the bocce ball as Lauren watches the action.

Rosemary Rosser, 12

Serving is an important skill in tennis, so Rosemary works on her form.

Coach Wengerd

"[My best memory in tennis was] the look of anticipation on the team's faces when they were announcing the medal winners and then the astonishment of both coaches and players when we received the GOLD. That was priceless!!!!"

Annette Needham, 10, launches the bocce ball down the court, trying to get as close as possible to the target, or at least to knock her opponents' balls out of the way.

Aerra Wright, 10, runs forward to knock the ball back over the net. Her partner, Bethany House, 9, stands ready for the opponents' return.

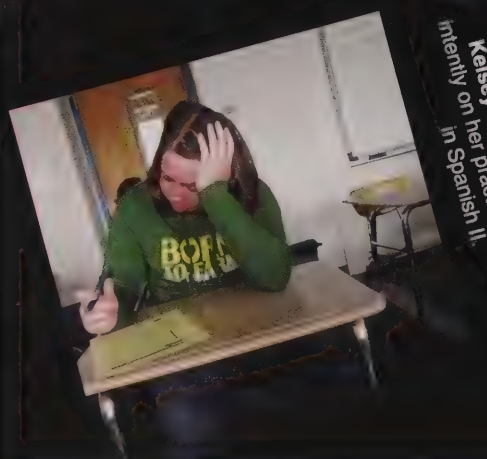
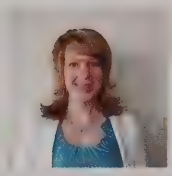
Ms. Theriot's Spanish I students work in groups to complete a chapter review assignment. This gives them the chance to discuss what they have learned and practice the vocabulary from the chapter.



Kelsey Vansickle, 10, works intently on her practice assignment in Spanish II.

"I enjoy teaching both French and Spanish. Each language has its own unique appeal, but all of my World Languages classes allow me to help students learn not only the language but the culture, too."
-Ms. Theriot



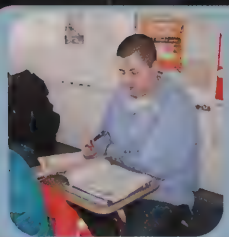
"The best parts about teaching Spanish are getting to use the language that I love and sharing that language with others."
-Mrs. Savage

"The language [Spanish] has much in common with English, yet it has such a beautiful sound to it. I have so much fun finding unique ways to teach vocabulary and pronunciation!"
-Mrs. Virts

"[My favorite part of Spanish] is playing Ponga, because it shows everyone's competitive side."
-Stephanie Owens, 10

"I find all the grammar most difficult because there are so many different types."
-Christa Lowery, 12

"What I enjoy most about Spanish II is all the fun games that we get to play."
-Bruce Nairn, 10



Stephen Lenhart, 12, quietly concentrates on the bookwork his Spanish III class was assigned.

Douglas Mast, 10, works independently on a handout in Mrs. Savage's Spanish class. This practice work helps students master new grammatical concepts and review old ones.

Chelsea Kirkham, 11, learns how to correctly put on a fire suit. This will help her to help others in her community in the future.

Serving up a delicious lunch for teachers, Tristen Devalk, 10, offers them rolls to go with their soup.

Ashley Miller, 12, organizes notes and announcements with Ms. Harman before their Student Council meeting.

The environment gets a good cleaning from Alexandria Diehl, 12, and Kirsten Rayner, 11, during their Environmental Science field trip to plant trees for the planet they love.

Lauren Yeager, 12, shows off the leaves for the Earth Week pledge tree.

Even at lunch Jessica Friend, 12, and Ashley Hackett, 12, practice their Allied Health skills before they leave for the hospital.

Taking a break from work, Asa Archer, 11, and his friend sit down for a meal.

Student Council hands the Dove Center the donations collected from our students and staff.

The EMS Club members learn how to safely strap someone onto a stretcher before taking them to the hospital.

The FFA group leaders hold a meeting and listen to other members on their next big move for the community.

Veronica Platter, 10, works on her project for the SADD club.

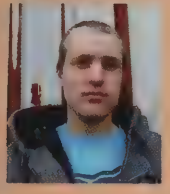
What do you learn from helping out the community through the school?

"The EMS Club helped a lot with my career in the fire department."
-Connor Lloyd, 12

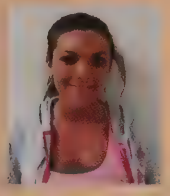
"I've learned many things [in Allied Health] about helping the community through the many trips to the hospital."
-Morgan Yoder, 12

"I've learned many things being in Student Council. It teaches responsibility, leadership skills and problem solving."
-Adriana Fratz, 9

"I have learned the importance of community involvement to help create a brighter future, through service learning opportunities and the blind skier program."
-Elizabeth Green, 11

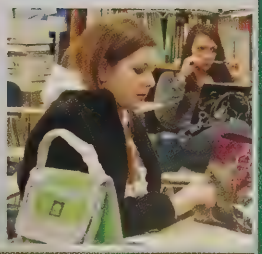


"I've learned how important it is for me to help the community."
-Timothy Knox, 12



"Allied Health teaches me how to prepare for my future plans in a health career, so I can help people in the community."
-Kristan Broadwater, 12

It was a great honor for Dillon Russell, 12, to have a conversation and shake hands with State Senator George Edwards.



Heather Vincent, 12, takes on great responsibility and does a good job being the Student Council president.

The boys' basketball team raised money and presented it to the Cancer Society at a home game.

Brandon Minnich, 12, and Morgan Yoder, 12, learn many hands-on and technological skills on their trips to the hospital.

Jessica Klotz, 11, pins up pledges on the AP Environmental tree.

Student Council visited Annapolis to learn about the legislative process.

Ashley Parandhamaia, 11, helps with the Earth Week pledge tree. Students wrote down pledges they would do to help the environment.

Allison Yommer, 11, Emily Vincent, 11, Heather Vincent, 12, and Asa Archer, 11, relax with Student Council members.

Cari Zbel, 11, gets advice on how to properly and safely plant trees.

NHS Cheer Team

Brittany, good luck with cheerleading and in all of your sophomore year!

Children are a blessing, sent from God above
For us to care and nurture, but most of all to love
There comes that time in life, when you will leave our nest
We send you off with love and prayer, and trust God to do the rest

We've watched you grow, and taught you right from wrong
Now it's time to let you go, and let you write your song
You stand here before us, a respectful honest man
Strong willed and determined, who always says "I can"
Compassionate and courageous, you've marched to your own beat
True to your convictions, in victory or defeat
There are no doubts within our minds that you'll indeed succeed
Your future holds so much in store, but that "smile" is all you need
No matter where life leads you, no matter what you do,
We will be your biggest fans and always be here for you!!
We love you,
Dad, Mom and Justin

Yearbook students Stephanie Owens, 10, Christa Bowser, 10, Sara Paul, 10, Samantha Schoenian, 11, Jordan Seaman, 12, Lydia Powell, 11, Talan Garner, 12, Brittany Carr, 10, Lorren Snodgrass, 10, Marrisa Adams, 10 and Tia Winters 10, take a break from their hectic layout schedules to celebrate the end of the year with a bit of silliness.

2011-2012 NORTH STAR

Sara Paul, 10, and Stephanie Owens, 10, fill out a photo upload form.

Brittany Carr, 10, and Lorren Snodgrass, 10, joke about the possible placement for the prom photos.

As editor, Jordan Seaman, 12, spends a great deal of time proofing other student's layouts. She is looking for common mistakes such as misspellings, punctuation errors, extra spaces, misidentified students, etc.

Yearbook students Lydia Powell, 11, and Talan Garner, 12, laugh out loud while discussing the wording for various captions on their sports layout.

YEARBOOK CLASS

Marrisa Adams, 10, and Christa Bowser, 10, concentrate on their yearbook layout while trying to decide on how to properly word the caption.

Tia Winters, 10, and Samantha Schoenian, 11, decide which senior superlative photos would be the most entertaining.

Special Thanks:

Every year, it is a challenge to both create a high-quality yearbook and to raise the approximately $30,000 needed to pay for it. The price of the book only covers a portion of the production cost, and the yearbook program does not receive any funding from the school or the board of education. As a result, we must raise enough money to make up the difference between what we charge for the book and what it actually costs to print. Our biggest source of this funding is local businesses. We could not publish the North Star yearbook without their support, and we are, as always, extremely grateful for their continued assistance! We would like to give a big thank-you to the businesses that bought ads (which can be seen in the last section of the book). We would also like to thank the ones that participated in the discount card fundraiser, which is our biggest fundraiser of the year. Those businesses are: Orange Julius, Auntie Anne's, Perkins, Arby's, Taco Bell, KFC, Santa Fe Grill, Par-Matt Lanes, Nu-View Video, Zip'ees, Sorellee's, Pine Lodge Steakhouse, DQ, Straight 8 Pizza & Subs, Smiley's, Archie's, Jearbryo's, El Canelo, Dunham's, Denny's, and Keysers Ridge Truck Stop.

We would also like to extend an extra thanks to the Grantsville Nu-View video store for helping us to sell the discount cards to their customers.

As always, there are a number of teachers and parents who have helped us throughout the year with photos and other assistance--you know who you are! Finally, we would like to give a special thanks to Mr. Price for his generosity in helping with the cover of the book and much of the photography, as well.
